Henderson Point project plans now underway

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Plans to relocate part of Highway 90 at Henderson Point, and replace an aged bridge over the L&N railroad tracks, are being developed by state highway officials.

The project should eliminate two frightening, dangerous features of the highway: a bridge that offers lanes only 10-feet wide, and a sharp curve that confronts motorists where Highway 90 turns at the Mississippi Sound.

District highway engineer Rick Turner said this week that a new, wider four-lane bridge will be built to the north of the existing span, crossing a bayou and the tracks. The old bridge, constructed under the Works Project Administration decades ago, then will be demolished.

Turner said the existing span is structurally sound but dangerously narrow. Modern four-lane bridges are at least 48 feet wide, with additional width for shoulders. The old bridge is 40 feet wide, with no shoulders.

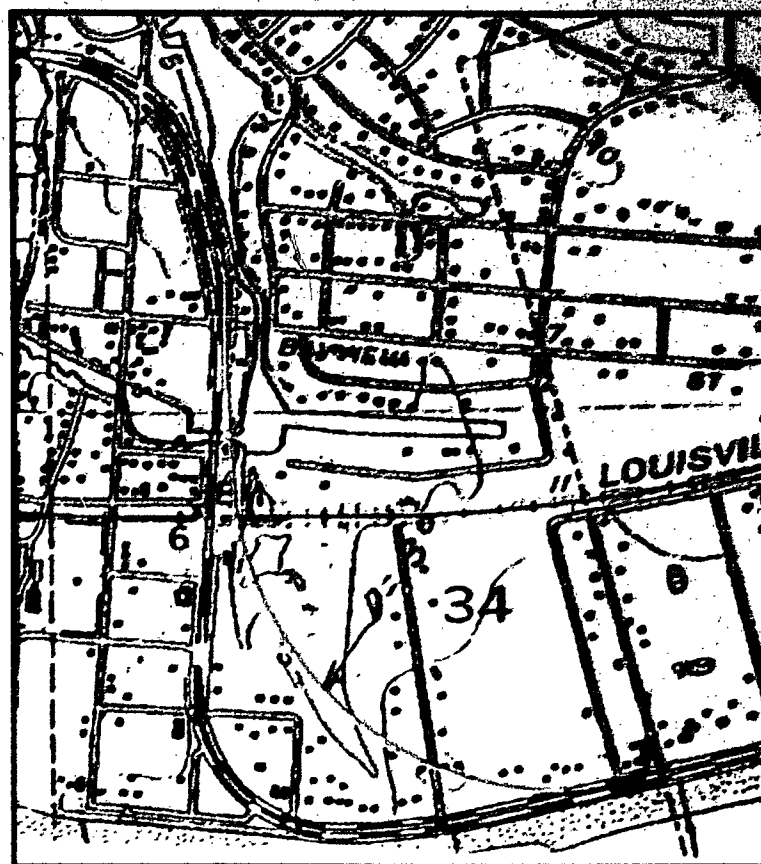

Traffic squeezes over the span, and some motorists are terrorized when forced alongside a bus or large truck lumbering along the same route. Accident statistics were not immediately available, but Highway Patrol spokesman Joe Gazzo said the "quite a few" wrecks happen on the bridge and in the curve at question.

To correct the problems, the highway department plans to construct a four-lane divided highway segment to replace part of the existing route, beginning near an abandoned service station just west of the existing bridge. The new route will cross a bayou and the railroad tracks, connecting with Highway 90 very close to the new Days Inn in Pass Christian, Turner said.

The project will leave Highway 90 with a much less severe curve at the Sound.

While the old bridge will be demolished, the existing section of Highway 90 at Henderson

Man charged with hit-and-run death

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

A Waveland woman became the victim of a hit-and-run driver Saturday night on Lakeshore Road.

Marguerite Richardson, 48, of Waveland, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident. She had been hit by a vehicle one quarter of a mile north of Elsie's Longhorn Lounge.

Later that night, Robert A. Zoerner, 31, of Bayside Park turned himself into the Hancock County Sheriff's Department. He is currently being held in the Hancock County Justice Facility under $50,000 bond. Bond was first set at $15,500, but following his initial appearance, the bond amount was raised, Staff Sgt. Nathan Hoda said.

He is being charged with felony driving under the influence causing death, leaving the scene of an accident and improper driver's license.

Nathan Hoda said that the case will more than likely go to the grand jury and that the felony DUI charge alone carries a minimum 25-year sentence.

An autopsy was scheduled for Tuesday morning and the sheriff's department is hoping to gather more evidence from the autopsy results.

Hoda said that he could not reveal, at this time, the results of Zoerner's intoxication test.

He was charged with having an improper driver's license because it was an out-of-state license.

Waveland police capture fugitives

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

Waveland Police Department has captured two fugitives, both wanted on theft charges in other states.

Investigator Rickey Jacobs, with the Waveland Police Department, said Monday that both men have been placed in the Hancock County Justice Facility and are awaiting extradition.

Those arrested were Paul Martin Harris, 46, 120 Phillip Dr., Waveland and Daniel D. Pavolini, 31, 4023 Indian St., Waveland.

Harris was wanted on a Class D theft indictment in Murray County, Tenn.

"We received information from the authorities in Murray County that they believed Harris to be living in our area. A class D theft is one for $20,000 or more," Jacobs said.

Harris is being held without bail pending his extradition. He was arrested on Thursday, Sept. 15.

Pavolini was found asleep in his vehicle on North Beach at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday.

"A check was done and it was discovered that he was a fugitive from Indian River County, Fla.," Jacobs said.

Pavolini was being sought for third degree theft charges and is currently in the Hancock County Justice Facility under $5,000 and is awaiting extradition.

Depot price too low, feds tell Bay St. Louis

BY MARY G. SEILEY

In what the mayor of Bay St. Louis says is a "ludicrous" and "pathetic" position, the federal government has blocked the city's purchase of the old CSX depot.

Federal officials recently halted the city's imminent purchase -- on the grounds that the price the city and CSX have agreed to is too low. A recent appraisal put the property's worth at $162,000 -- almost twice as much as the agreed-on price.

"A pile of crap is what it comes down to," the mayor said in explaining to City Council the latest roadblock to the city's proposed acquisition. "It's the bureaucracy at its best, the federal government..."

"Here we had cut a super deal for the taxpayers ... and the federal government is saying, 'Nope, you can't close because it's not enough,'" Favre said.

The city and CSX are under a contract for sale of the former depot, with a price of $86,000. CSX agreed to that sum after having the property appraised.

But federal officials recently said the Uniform Relocation Act requires an independent appraisal be done, by a federally-approved appraiser.

That most recent appraisal came in at $162,000. It was confirmed by an independent review appraisal, said Favre and city attorney John Scafide.

There's still hope that the deal can go through, despite the most recent snag. Scafide said

Tis the season

Members of the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee took sacks of red beans and rice to the courthouse last week, in a meeting to gear up for an Oct. 15 political rally. The annual "Beans & Greens" event at Hancock County Civic Center, from noon to 4 p.m., will feature live music and appearances by local and state politicians. Last year's event drew almost 500 area citizens. Tickets are for sale now for $5 and can be obtained through members of the executive committee. (Echo Staff Photo by Mary G. Seiley)

City pressing for comfort station

BY MARY G. SEILEY

City officials are pressing ahead with plans for a downtown comfort station to attract more tourism to Bay St. Louis -- but the original site of the proposed facility has shifted.

City Council members Tuesday discussed knitting three parcels north of Main Street together for a comfort station, landscaped municipal parking lot and tour bus stop. Originally, council talked about building a smaller facility to the south of Main Street, in the parking lot behind City Hall Annex. That plan was set aside, however, so officials could search for a more appropriate, larger property.

As it stands, city officials have commitments for lease or purchase of the deep, wide vacant lot that sits between the old Post Office and Menage Antiques. A comfort station with restrooms for tourists and the public could be constructed on the rear of that property.

The city also has a commitment to use the rear parking lot of the adjoining old Post office building. Council was told that negotiations also are underway with First Baptist Church officials for use of the vacant corner lot at State and Gex streets, to the east of the church's main grounds.

"We missed this summer. I'd hate to see another one gone without a comfort station," said councilman James C. Thriffley, who proposed the comfort station months ago as a lure to attract tour bus operators to downtown.

City officials hope by providing the new facility, tours will be routed to town for a brief stop, with passengers allowed to roam around, shopping and eating downtown.

The original plan to build a facility in the City Hall Annex parking lot was set aside, because officials worried the lot was too small to accommodate bus traffic and downtown parking needs.

In other business Tuesday, council accepted a low bid of $37,544 for construction of a drainage pump station for the Spanish Acres subdivision. Environmental Construction Corp. of Pass Christian offered the lowest of three prices submitted for the work.

Last June, the city rejected another set of bids on the project, when the lowest offer was $73,650.

Public works officials said the city got a better set of prices this time, by restructuring the bid package and urging bidders to submit offers.

City officials also decided to do part of the work independently of the contract, at a cost of some $4,500.

Almost an hour of council's meeting was devoted to discussions with officials of Coast Area Transit concerning the existing bus services the city sponsors, and possible expansions.

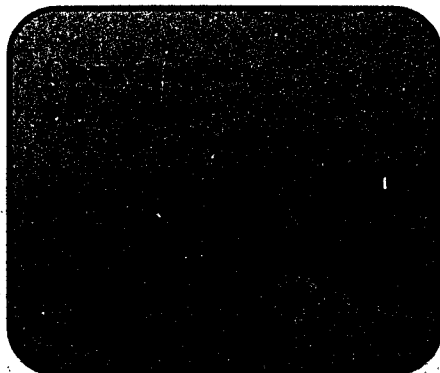

Authority executive director Ted Hearn said the new bus line the city provided to connect downtown with Buccaneer Park, Route 53, has been run-

Our Lady's Monthly Messages Medugorje

June 25, 1994
Dear Children,

Today I rejoice in my heart in seeing you all present here. I bless you and I call you all to decide to live my messages which I give you here.

I desire, little children, to guide you all to Jesus because He is your salvation. Therefore, little children, the more you pray the more you will be mine and of my Son Jesus.

I bless you all with my motherly blessing, and I thank you for having responded to my call.

July 25, 1994
Dear Children,

Today I invite you to decide to give time for prayer patiently. Little children, you cannot say you are mine and that you have

Hancock board reviews policy

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The Hancock County School Board is trying to decide what to do concerning a school policy which does not allow students to check out early from school without the parent coming to pick them up.

This policy has met with some complaints from parents according to board president Cheryl Bennett. She questioned high school principal David Kopf on what they were doing about students who had doctor's appointments in the afternoons, students that become sick at school and parents who could not get away from work to come and get their children. Kopf tried to let the board know that the school is doing everything that it can to make sure that the children are safe and they are being cared for if they become ill.

"I have taken a child to Slidell before, myself," Kopf said.

"If a child is sick, we let them come into the office until they are well enough to return to class or it is time for them to go home on the bus. This way, there is no inconvenience to the parent and the child continues to be supervised to monitor their condition. If it is an emergency, we will do whatever has to be done to see that the child receives medical attention," Kopf said.

The board continued to be concerned about input they had received from parents.

"There has to be some other way that we can work this out instead of just allowing parents to pick up the students. Why can't we have the parents authorize another person to pick up their children?" Bennett asked.

Kopf told the board that when the policy is explained to parents they understand the reasoning behind the policy.

Kopf told the board that the policy has improved school attendance by 11.6 percent and that with improved attendance comes improved test scores. He also said that the policy helps to promote accountability by parents and students as to the student's attendance.

"We were instructed to improve attendance and that is what we have done," Kopf said.

The board decided to hold a workshop with the teachers and principals to determine whether the policy should be changed or amended later this month.

Board discusses new construction

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL

The Bay-Waveland school board used its workshop session Monday night to do some brainstorming. Two persons very much interested in the evening's activities were principals Debbie Cox of Waveland Elementary School and Kim Stasny of North Bay Elementary. The board, along with Superintendent Paul Tisdale and architect Kevin Fitzpatrick, met to discuss the expansion of both schools.

Extra classrooms, especially for kindergarten, are needed to keep up with growth and to avoid the continuance of overcrowded conditions the Bay-Waveland School District is now facing. A minimum of four, and most probably six classrooms, are needed at each school.

Fitzpatrick brought some literature with illustrations of metal buildings used by schools and industry to show their practicality. He noted that the metal buildings are incredibly flexible and pointed out that the buildings were not something ugly, but came in attractive colors and could be nicely detailed. The buildings consist of metal studs with sheet metal exterior skins.

Board members looked over maps of each school campus and plotted where they thought the new classrooms should be constructed. The architect responded with information on the best ways to go about tying the additions into the present buildings and working with the roof, drainage and required bathroom facilities. He advised the group as everyone tossed around ideas.

As with any plans for additions, the board also looked at the numbers involved in building costs. Financing was not discussed in depth.

Fitzpatrick was asked to make some rough sketches to illustrate the best methods to add classrooms at Waveland and North Bay and to have them ready to go over at next Monday's special board meeting. He said he was under a deadline on other work, but would try to have them completed.

The state will have to approve the final plans and the school will go out for bids on construction.

ning to Jubilee Casino as well. Hearn said the route was extended to Jubilee on a trial basis, and with hopes that Jubilee would chip into the costs of the line.

Hearn said the bus had 10 minutes to spare at Buccaneer anyway, and extending the run to Jubilee actually cost the city nothing.

Mayor Eddie Favre said so far Jubilee has not agreed to share costs of the route overall, however, and service to the casino would be dropped next week unless the casino agrees to participate in financing the line.

Hearn lauded city officials as being "visionary" for recognizing the need to support public transportation -- the city pays for trolley service and two CTA bus lines.

In addition, council has authorized purchase of a third bus for a new route, Thrilliley said one potentially popular route would connect Diamondhead to Bay St. Louis, via Highway 603. He suggested a joint meeting with the Board of Supervisors, to seek county help in operational costs.

Hearn said while the county pays for transit services for area senior citizens, the board has consistently refused to help finance general public transportation.

In other matters, council approved several recommendations from the Planning and Zoning Commission, including a special exception requested for property in the 1100 block of Old Spanish Trail. A small portion of the property is zoned R-1 (residential), and the remainder is in a C-2, commercial zone.

Council agreed that the existing structure could be used for a professional office. Hours of operation will be limited from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Depot

the total cost of the deal to the city is right at $162,000. The total includes the purchase price, and such items as environmental tests of the depot grounds, the forthcoming closing of three CSX crossings, and helping CSX relocate its offices to the other side of the tracks.

If the city can convince federal officials that the total package meets the appraised price, he said, the deal still can proceed.

The city was approved for a $580,000 grant from the Federal Department of Transportation to restore the 1928 depot, but it has to buy the structure before the city gets the grant.

Consultants have been hired to manage the project, and area architects have submitted proposals for designing the restoration. The project, however, has hit one snag after another, and is months behind schedule.

Let's Work Together For WAVELAND FIRST

KEITH MITCHELL, his wife, Jan, and their children, Natalie, 10, Kace, 8, Myriam, 4, and Jesse, 3.

More than just a campaign theme, WAVELAND FIRST is a solid plan of action developed by Keith Mitchell based on his experiences and knowledge as Waveland's Director of Community Development & Building Official.

Let's forget about politics for just a moment and take a good hard look at our city. There has been an unprecedented increase in both commercial and residential building activity over the past two years. Our rapid growth is exceeding the capacity of our infrastructure. Our streets and drainage problems continue to plague us. We are far behind other areas in meeting the serious demands of environmental responsibility. We are feeling the effects of gang activity on our children. There is more, but what is important now are the solutions.

WAVELAND FIRST...A Commitment to Our Future.

As your Director of Community Development and City Building Official, I have firsthand knowledge of exactly what the challenges and the opportunities of this city are. I know, as do most of you, that we are at a critical point in Waveland. We can not continue to do business as usual by allowing our city to be run on a part-time basis when the demands are clearly full time. We need an experienced administrator who has demonstrated the ability, energy and leadership to proactively manage the many changes and challenges we face. I have made the commitment to put WAVELAND FIRST is the first full-time mayor. I have developed a comprehensive plan of action for a successful future that blends our new opportunities with the traditions of our past.

WAVELAND FIRST...I'm ready to get started. A vote for Keith Mitchell for Mayor is your vote to put WAVELAND FIRST!

Welcome Center's restrooms need immediate repairs

The economy of our state and county is depending more and more on tourism, along with industrial development.

Both tourism and industrial development bring many visitors to our state and county.

One of the first places many of these visitors see is our Mississippi Welcome Center.

We have a very beautiful welcome center, and the building and grounds are always neat and clean. This goes along with a staff of very dedicated hostesses.

The Hancock Welcome Center was opened in February, 1979, and that was over 15 years ago. Over the years thousands upon thousands have stopped and used the center's facilities.

The first place that the majority of those who stop visit, is the restroom.

This is where a very serious problem has developed because of use.

A visit to the welcome center's restrooms this week revealed the main door to the east side of the men's restroom does not completely close. All of the hand dryers do not work, and one of the stalls for the handicapped doesn't even have a door.

The door was partially open on the women's restroom too, so it isn't properly working either.

There was even a woman visitor complaining about the worn-out condition of the ladies restroom.

One can look at the fixtures in the men's restroom and tell they all need to be replaced, along with the flooring.

Someone on the Mississippi Tourism Commission, or whoever is in charge, needs to get on the ball and get our welcome centers in tip-top shape.

Tourism is very important to Mississippi and gaming has made a change. Possibly, some of the state's gaming revenues could be used to update our welcome centers.

In case you have any doubt about our concerns, stop by the Hancock County Welcome Center on Interstate 10 and see for yourself.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It will be homecoming for St. Stanislaus Friday when the Rock-A-Chaws play host to Pass Christian's Pirates.

Hancock High, fresh off from a victory of St. Stanislaus 20-13 in a very hard-fought game, will play host to Northshore, La., in Hawk Stadium.

Bay High will be at home too, hosting East Central Friday night.

Stanislaus really needs to be prepared for the Pirates, who were riding high until they suffered their first defeat at the hands of arch rival Long Beach's Bearcats.

St. Stanislaus, winners of their first game of the season, will have to be in top form to take on the Pirates, who were highly rated in the state high school rankings before last week's loss.

Friday's game could be a real 'barn burner.' Either team could come out victors.

Bay High is sporting a 2-1 record and needs to be ready for their first conference tilt against East Central.

It was a good win for Hancock High last week. It was their first of the season and first as Rocky Gaudin as head mentor.

I know little about Northshore, La., but usually Louisiana teams are strong.

It appears to be a building season for the Rock-A-Chaws, Hawks and Tigers, as all have new head coaches.

One thing is for sure, all three teams have given their all this season.

You are needed Friday night to support the team of your choice.

Good fan support can work wonders on the play of a team.

I hope to see you at the game.

Bells blessing

The year was 1909 when the bells of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church were blessed at an elaborate ceremony. The front of St. Joseph Academy is to the left of the photo. Many of the Brothers of St. Stanislaus and Sisters of St. Joseph can be seen in their traditional habits. A number of broken bricks can be seen in the foreground of the photo from the construction of the church, which replaced a building destroyed by fire Nov. 16, 1907. (Photo courtesy of Jeremy Compretta of Bay St. Louis). The Echo welcomes photos older than 25 years for publication. They will be returned to their owners.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader feels term limitations could exclude the most qualified

Dear Editor:

As I was leaving Wal-Mart today (Sunday, Sept. 18) I was accosted by a rather scruffily dressed young man who politely requested that I sign a petition.

The purpose of the petition was to place a proposal for term limitation of elected representatives on the ballot of the upcoming election.

I politely told him, "I'm sorry, I can't do that. It's a mistake."

As I was continuing on my way through the parking lot to my car, I reflected upon my answer and decided that an explanation receiving some promulgation might be of use to the electorate.

Our form of government is a Democratic Republic, and the only way it can succeed is through wide participation by citizens of all walks of life and economic strata.

Recognizing this, our forefathers placed minimum qualifications upon citizenship and eligibility for public office: age, residency, the absence of a criminal record, and so forth.

A person's sex, religion, race, income, or how long he has performed a job is not and should not be a criteria for eligibility for public office.

The proposed term limitation requirements would place additional restrictions upon this eligibility, and could have the effect of potentially excluding the most qualified candidate.

Stated in another manner, it would be a partial disenfranchisement of the voters by not allowing them an unrestricted choice of how to cast their votes.

The enactment of a term limitation proposal will allow a well meaning (I hope) but non-Democratic group of persons, who know better, to force the electorate to make a choice not necessarily of their own desire.

Let's be realistic. The ultimate form of term limitation is currently in place: vote the incompetent, self-seeking, unresponsive office holder out of office by electing another candidate.

Do not penalize the competent, unselfish and responsive office holder by firing him as a reward for a job well done.

Put in place mechanisms for recall, so that a bad job can be more easily punished, but do not limit the country's access to a good man.

Before closing, I would like to make a comment about the voter. It is absolutely essential that every citizen not only vote, but also keep himself informed of issues so that he can vote intelligently.

In my lifetime of approximately 60 years, I have noticed a gradual increase in public apathy toward issues and a decrease in the number of persons participating at the polls.

A similar phenomenon occurred in Germany in the 1920's and 30', and resulted in the election — by a minority of the eligible electorate — of Adolf Hitler as chancellor. The result was world chaos.

Perhaps a more apropos proposal for the ballot would be mandatory voter education requirements coupled with criminalizing the failure to vote?

Sincerely,
Ivo J. Stakelum Jr.
Waveland

Research lab director hiring should be on merit only

Dear Editor:

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory is seeking a new director. The people of Mississippi, and especially of our coastal area, would be best served by having a new director selected on merit through a national search rather than a strictly local political appointee. Criteria for selection should include international recognition in marine science.

The new director should have an impeccable ethical character and a background record for fairness and leadership. Furthermore, the new director should be selected from a group of applicants from outside the laboratory. Promotion to director from within an organization usually results in a status quo or "business as usual."

Often this means keeping the lid on past or present sins such as poor performance, poor behavior or unethical conduct. The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory needs major changes now.

A new director, after evaluating the staff, their performance and the orientation of all research programs, can make appropriate changes in personnel and programs based on the needs of the state of Mississippi and especially the people living on the Coast.

I suggest that the public review the five-year plan for the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory prepared about two years ago.

Selection of a new director is very important to every citizen of this state, because that person may be director for many years. I hope the new director will conduct the laboratory's business in an open manner with full disclosure.

I also believe that publication of the laboratory budget as expenditures and not as projections should be available for public scrutiny.

The new director needs to be a strong person who can change the present direction of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory from a program filled with personal agendas to one that reflects the research and teaching needs of the state.

Yours sincerely,
Lionel N. Eleuterius, PhD
Ocean Springs

Fitch announces for Ward One alderman

Richard R. Fitch has announced his candidacy for the office of Alderman Ward One in Republican primary election to be held on Nov. 8. Fitch is a retired certified public accountant and has lived in Ward One for 16 years. His business experience includes employment with the Internal Revenue Service and International Business Machines and an extensive career in public accounting as partner in a medium-sized public accounting firm. His special expertise was in the fields of cost controls, budgeting and municipal budgeting and auditing. Fitch was born and raised in the state of Nebraska and educated in the Omaha public schools, The University of Omaha and Northwestern University. He is married and the father of three grown children. Fitch states, "My experience makes me uniquely qualified to help the city of Waveland recover from the present period of inept and confused leadership and prepare the city to handle the enormous problems now facing our city. Waveland can no longer operate as a one-person fiefdom and must plan for the future rather than operate on a daily crisis basis."

Keating announces for Ward 2 alderman

Aline Keating

Aline Keating has officially announced her candidacy for Waveland Alderman, Ward 2 in the November Democratic primary.

A retired City of Waveland employee after 9 1/2 years under two different administrations, Keating has also worked for The Prudential Insurance Company of America for 10 years as a legal stenographer.

Keating is a resident of Waveland for 18 years and is married to Bill Keating, and they have two sons.

Keating said, "I feel my experience serving two diverse administrations has given me a special insight how city government works. I am fully aware of the needs for better drainage, streets and revenue from outside sources."

"I will be available to serve the people of my ward, as I have more time to devote to their needs and concerns, since I do not have any other obligations," Keating added.

Keating was also the zoning official for the Waveland Zoning Commission.

Keating said, "I really worry about the future of Waveland and what's going to happen to our city. Our town has a special place in my heart, and I need to satisfy this feeling by doing something constructive for my neighbors and Waveland."

Maness running for commissioner

Jim Maness announces he is a candidate for election commissioner, District I.

Maness is certified by the Secretary of State as "fully qualified to conduct an election." He has been managing elections for Republican primaries throughout Hancock County since 1990. His management has included all phases of the election process, including the certification of candidate qualifications, preparing the voting machines and ensuring votes are accurately and properly counted.

Maness is a fishing columnist and a businessman.

He is active in many community service organizations. He has served as a commissioner of the Clermont Harbor-Lakeshore Fire Protection District since its inception. He is the Civil Defense radiation protection officer and the Emergency Communications coordinator for the fire services in the event of a disaster.

Maness has served as secretary of the Clermont Harbor VFD. He is vice-president-at-large with the Hancock County Fire Fighters Association. He served on Governor Fordice's Transition Committee on Ecology and on the subcommittee dealing with wildlife and fisheries. He is the treasurer of the Hancock County Republican Party.

Other memberships include Mississippi Wildlife Federation, Tourist and Gaming Association, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Coast Chamber of Commerce.

Legion Auxiliary sponsors Burn Center benefit dance

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
A benefit dance for the Mississippi Burn Center will be sponsored by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 on Friday, Nov. 4.

The dance will be held at the Legion Hall, Green Meadow Road, with doors opening at 7 p.m. and dancing from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

An auction will be held midway during the dance, Marian Foucha, dance/auction chairman said.

Music will be provided by Keith Hoda's local band.

The Burn Center is located at Greenville, Miss., which Bessie Ladner, State Auxiliary president, has adopted as the Auxiliary's state project for the year, Mattie North, local chairman for the Auxiliary's project said.

Several gifts and prizes have already been collected for the auction by Auxiliary members.

Auxiliary members will be contacting local merchants to collect other donations of gifts and prizes for the auction.

All proceeds from the dance and auction will go to the Mississippi Burn Center which is expanding its facilities at this time.

Dance tickets are $12 per couple, $6 for single and can be purchased from Auxiliary members, the club house, or at the door.

For further information call the club house at 467-7100.

FIRST TIME

The Diamondhead AARP's next meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 4, will be a luncheon (the first) at 11:30 a.m. at the country club.

Cost is $8 per person, payable in advance. Please send your checks to Gert Waddington, 2434 Airport Drive by Thursday, Sept. 29.

Guest speaker will be Dennis Westbrook, chief of our own fire department. Topic will be fire prevention and CPR.

All you members and prospective new members out there, let's have a good turnout for this and show of support.

LET'S KEEP IT CLEAN

You good folks, Lou, Susan,

Jon, Dottie, Joe, Jack, Dr. Bills, Paul and friends Curtis and Bryan from Diamondhead Supermarket, and all the others who braved that terrible humidity last Saturday, Sept. 17 early a.m. and picked up for the county cleanup, your efforts really paid off (at least for a day), because the interchange and entrances into Diamondhead were free of trash and looked great!

We won't forget those ladies Martha, Gert and Pearlina for "holding down the fort." A big thanks to all.

BEST OF SHOW

The annual Diamondhead Arts and Crafts Show is Saturday, Sept. 24, 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 25, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the country club. The club is serving hamburgers, hot dogs, BBQ beef, soft drinks and beer.

It promises to be one of the best craft shows around, and a real good time to get a head start on your Christmas shopping. Ya'll come!

CASINO CAPERS

Call now and reserve our spot with Murray, Tim and Diamondhead friends for another fabulous night at the Jubilee.

You'll enjoy great food, cocktails and the great sounds of the Fifth Dimension. I remember them!

For transportation and party information, etc. please call 255-9373 or 255-1633. Be in that number.

DANCE

Ruth and Charlie Olivier, those divine "Diamondhead Dancers," are calling you to learn how to clog, and if you haven't tried line dancing under their direction, you just don't know what you're missing. Give it a try on Wednesday evening at 7 at the community center.

MORE DANCE

Don't forget the Diamondhead Square Dancers who meet at St. Williams recreational hall say "we want you."

Lessons have begun and it's lots of fun and great exercise. Please call 255-4010 or 255-1755 for more information.

CORRECTION

It's not "Chris," but "Andy" Borja and his crew with grounds maintenance of the POA, who are responsible for all of the beautiful landscaping, flower beds, etc. all over Diamondhead, which truly make it a "Paradise," also our hard worker "Shorty" who drives all the way from Carriere to work on Sundays.

Keep up the great job guys. It is appreciated!

THOSE 'WILD & CRAZIES'

The Diamondhead Newcomers are planning another super get-together on Tuesday, Oct. 11 luncheon at our close neighbor's, Jubilee Casino.

Bus picks up at The Video Store in Diamondhead Plaza at 10:30 a.m. Cost is $10 and includes lunch and transportation. Please send check of $10 to Evelyn Kibler, 6523 Koula Drive, Diamondhead, by Oct. 5. Don't miss this fun time.

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

The best and most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched. They must be felt with the heart.

MORE THOUGHTS

If you're yearning for the good old days, turn off the air conditioner.

And, take time to smell the roses. See you in two weeks.

NOTE: Margaret Williamson will be on vacation. "In and Around Diamondhead" will resume in two weeks.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Ribs on the grill

Brother, can you spare a rib? —or a whole batch of them? The answer's a most emphatic "yes" at our area supermarkets, which offer both pork and beef spare ribs at good prices, from small to large, for your holiday or other meals.

And, inasmuch as September is "National Chicken Month" chicken, from whole chickens to the wings, are in the spotlight at good prices. Ground beef, hot dogs, sausages of all sort, tempt the eye and the appetite.

To go along with your choice, there's late summer's golden yellow corn, fresh greens, squash, baked potatoes, just to enumerate a few. And, to top off your meal, why not choose from among all the fresh fruit offered, from a whole watermelon to grapes?

And, let's not forget all the melons and the peaches, pears and nectarines and grapefruit and oranges. I like to combine various fresh fruits for a quick dessert, and serve in small clear bowls, with frozen yogurt or ice cream atop.

When it comes to seasoning and saucing and cooking up those ribs I mentioned earlier, everyone, it seems, has a special way, superior to any others! Here's our way, or one of our ways for:

RIBS ON THE BARBECUE PIT OR GRILL

(Plan on a pound and a half of pork ribs per person, at least. Ask the butcher to crack them, or do it yourself with your handy cleaver. Powder ribs liberally with fresh-ground black pepper, salt, pureed onion and garlic and whatever other seasonings you choose.)

Soar the ribs on each side for 10 minutes over the fire, then put on the grill in a big pot, a really big one, with just enough water to cover them. Bring to a boil, and continue boiling for 20 minutes. Remove the ribs and reserve cooking juice formed

Peters, Baumgartner, Rome named Melvin Jones Fellows

Howard Peters, president, and Jack Baumgartner of the Diamondhead Lions Club, and Raymond Rome of the Hancock Lions Club, Bay St. Louis, have been named Melvin Jones Fellows by Lions Clubs International Foundation in recognition of their commitment to serving the world community.

Named for the founder of Lions Clubs International, Melvin Jones, the fellowship is the foundation's highest honor. It is a recognition of a commitment when you boiled them.

Place the ribs on the grill, and baste well with the cooking juices, along with the barbecue sauce of your choice as they cook until done. As they are finished, return them to the pot to keep warm until ready to serve.

Incidentally, if you've also taken advantage of the good prices on pork chops, swab the chops liberally with sauce, place at the outer edges of the grill, and cook them along with the ribs, basting occasionally for an extra treat.

Beach renourishment program hits snag

BY MARY G. SEILEY

The Bay St. Louis sand beach renourishment program, with inches of final approval, has hit a snag.

Les Fillingame told City Council members Tuesday that officials with the state Department of Marine Resources want to require a completely new application from the city for a permit to dredge sand.

That process, he said, could delay the project up to 90 days.

Fillingame, who has spearheaded the project for the city, said he thinks DMR personnel had inaccurate information concerning the proposed borrow pit the city has found for the project.

He said he's hopeful the state will change its position, after reviewing data with engineers on the project, allowing the process to proceed.

The city has gotten state and federal permission to pump a sand berm in an area between the Highway 90 bridge and Bookter Street. That approval came when officials agreed to amend the permit that was issued to the county for beach renourishment south of Washington Street.

City officials had hoped to amend the county's permit for dredging as well. The county used a borrow area offshore south of Washington Street, but the city has located a new source north of the Highway 90 bridge.

Fillingame said a DMR official, David Ruple, had taken the position that the project is of such scope it needs to come under an entirely new application. "There's no justification for that, except it was somebody's judgment," Fillingame said Wednesday.

Ruple was not reached for comment Wednesday.

Peter Anderson Arts Festival

The 16th annual Peter Anderson Arts and Crafts Festival will be Nov. 5 and 6 in Ocean Springs.

The activities will center in the area around the L&N Depot on Washington Avenue, spreading across the street to Marshall Park where Historic Ocean Springs Association (HOSA) will host a fine juried art show and will continue down Washington Avenue throughout the historic downtown area.

Stolen materials from seven sites used on barn

An inventory of a barn constructed with stolen building materials has determined that the materials were taken from seven construction sites in Diamondhead and the Kiln area, Nathan Hoda, Hancock County Criminal investigator said Wednesday.

James Candebat, 22, of Firetower Road, was apprehended last Friday by Joe Woodward, Gulf Coast Security officer at Diamondhead, who pursued him until he ran into a ditch.

Candebat was turned over to Hancock County Deputy Joe Herrin, who was assisted by Deputy Burt Johnson.

Hoda said Candebat is out on $10,000 bond, awaiting a preliminary hearing in Justice Court.

When apprehended, Candebat had siding from a construction site at Diamondhead, Hoda said. Some of the building materials were reportedly stolen as far back as February, and value was set at some $7,000, Hoda said.

Take a Fish to Lunch

There are over 600 fish in the Mississippi Fishes Aquarium Hall and they all need a good, nutritious diet to be at their best for entertaining our 100,000 guests each year. The Museum spends $30.00 per day to feed these denizens of the deep. We are looking for 365 people to sponsor the fish for one day this year with a $30.00 donation. Donors will be listed in the Aquarium Hall. So please, take a fish to lunch!

I want to feed the fish for _____ days. Here is my tax deductible donation of $ _____ ($30.00 for each day.) Please add this name to the Aquarium list:

ST. ANN AND ST. JOHN NEWS

Thoughts for meditation:
Thou dost rule the swelling of the seas; when its waves rise,
Thou dost still them.

Psalm 89:9 NASB
Sometimes I fear the waves will sweep over me, Lord.
Thank You for the assurance that You are in control. I put my trust in You, Amen.

Each man can interpret another's experience only by his own.

—Thoreau
If all our misfortunes were laid in one common heap, most people would be contented to take their own and depart.

Father, I ask that You remove these feelings of self pity. Heal me of their scars.
Please put self-respect and a sense of my many blessings in their place. Amen.

The church is not a gallery for the exhibition of eminent Christians, but a school for the education of imperfect ones, a hospital for the healing of those who need assiduous care.

—Henry W. Beecher
Faith is seeing a rainbow in each tear.

Lord, when all seems dark, teach us that You are in the shadows too. Amen.

It is good to praise You Lord, to proclaim Your love in the morning and Your faithfulness at night.

Psalms 9:1-2
For all Your goodness, for all of life, I thank You, Lord. Amen.

Even if I knew that tomorrow the world would go to pieces, I would still plant my apple tree.

—Martin Luther
And hope does not disappoint us, because God has poured out

His love into our hearts by the Holy Spirit.

Rom. 5:5

St. Ann-St. John Parish would like to thank everyone who contributed in any way to the success of the Seafood Jamboree held last weekend. It was indeed great in every way.

Mrs. Catherine Green of Waveland was the winner of the Half and Half first place prize.
Everyone who attended was a winner, and that seemed like all of Hancock County.

Many thanks to everyone's support; to those who worked long hours, or those who donated their time and talents in any way, and not forgetting the many who attended. Those brave and dedicated workers who worked out in the hot sun on Saturday are very deserving of a place in heaven. It was hot as blazes, but thank the good Lord, it didn't rain.

CCD classes are held each Monday from 3 to 4:45 p.m. in the parish hall. The public school bus drops students off after school at the church. However, parents are responsible for the arrangements to get their children home.

CCD and confirmation classes are on Sundays from 9 to 10:15 a.m. in the parish hall before St. Ann's 10:30 a.m. Holy Mass.

The Men's Club will meet tonight at 7 in the parish hall.
All men of the parish are welcome.

The Parish Altar Society meeting is Wednesday, Sept. 28 at 11 a.m. in the parish hall.
The ladies will meet at 9:30 a.m.
for a craft workshop in preparation for their craft boutique in November. All interested ladies are invited to come join the group. Anyone interested in renting a table for the boutique should contact the parish office.

The Peter Gruzinkos family won the Perpetual Clan Trophy for the most clan registered.
The winner will keep the trophy for a year until it will be awarded to next year's winner.

Scenes from Hancock's county-wide cleanup

Registration

Mrs. Alana Necaise, son Johnny and daughter Lisa were early registrants at the Ulman Avenue registration. Handling the registration were from right, Joann Little and Jean Barratt, members of the Riverview Family and Community Education Club. The registration points were, Ulman Avenue and Save Our Children, Bay St. Louis; Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier Waveland; Buccaneer State Park, Waveland; Cuevas Grocery, Pearlington; Shiffalo Baptist Church, Kiln; and White Cypress

Staff photos
by
Ellis C. Cuevas

Father and son

David Treutel Jr., chamber president; and son Trey were among Hancock County Chamber of Commerce members who cleaned the two miles of Highway 607 adopted by the chamber during the cleanup. Brice Phillips, president of the Hancock County Amateur Radio Association, collected 15 large bags of litter on the association's adopted Longfellow Road by himself.

Highway 43

Mrs. Amanda Thigpen of Kiln transported her grandchildren to participate in the county-wide cleanup on Highway 43 near Kiln. They were from left, Jennifer Thigpen, Walter Thigpen, and Jesse Thigpen.

Jubilee action

A number of employees and family members from Jubilee Casino participated in the Beach Cleanup in Lakeshore near Bayou Caddy. Among those joining Jon Turner, center, Jubilee V-P Community Affairs were, Nicole Rygel, Karen Turner, Carole Martin, Danny Rugel, Katie Fredrick, Mary Stewart and Marie Mitchell, chamber beautification committee member.

Group cleanup

Among the many groups participating in Hancock County's cleanup were from left, Levi Crafton, Lis Lagarde, Jena Crafton, Vicky Ward, and Chris Lagarde. They even collected an old ice chest near Buccaneer State Park. Participants enjoyed hot dogs and cokes at the end of the cleanup at the Garfield Ladner pier compliments of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee.

Combing beach

GE Plastic's part in the cleanup was led by Steve Grover and his family, at left, during Hancock County's county-wide cleanup held Saturday. Some 278 bags of litter were collected by some 484 volunteers in Hancock County in cooperation with the Marine Trash Task Force's efforts which are now international. Darlene Underwood served as the cleanup day chairman, along with Betsy Ashman as vice-chairman.

A lot of litter

A large stack of bags of litter collected along Beach Boulevard was stacked near the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier. Boudin's Waste and Recycling, owned by Joey Boudin, collected the litter after some 484 volunteers picked it up throughout the county.

College Football Highlights

(For Sept. 24)

After a week off to savor their dramatic last-minute win over Notre Dame, the Michigan Wolverines host Colorado on Saturday. These two teams had starkly contrasting early schedules, with Michigan needing to be in midseason form for its opener with Boston College, then battling Notre Dame. The Buffaloes, meanwhile, had an easy opening win over Northeast Louisiana, a week off, and then a huge game with Wisconsin last weekend. Michigan will be rested and restless — and about a touchdown better than Colorado. The Wolverines won the only other game they've played against the Buffaloes, 31-0 in 1974.

Last year's champion and runner-up in the Atlantic Coast Conference, Florida State and North Carolina, meet in Tallahassee. The Tar Heels, continuing their steady climb up the ACC and the Top 20, could give the Seminoles a real fight, though we're picking SFU by 14.

In '93 Florida State won easily in Chapel Hill, 33-7, piling up nearly 500 yards of offense, but it's worth noting that the score was 10-7 at the half, and by that point N.C.'s starting QB, Jason Stanicek, was injured and out of the game. The Tar Heels couldn't do anything without him in the second half. This one should be closer, but the Seminoles will run their record against North Carolina to 5-0-1.

If the Arizona Wildcats hope to disprove the Sports Illustrated jinx, fight for the Pacific-10 title and have a shot at the national championship, they'll need a convincing win over Stanford in Palo Alto, Calif.

Arizona was scared by Georgia Tech in the season opener, but the Cardinals were embarrassed by a tie with Northwestern two weeks ago.

The Wildcats won their third in a row against Stanford last year in Tucson, 27-24, coming back from 17 points behind and breaking a tie with Steve McLaughlin's 27-yard field goal as time expired. Arizona by 11.

In this week's best first-ever matchup, Miami hosts Washington. When they shared the national title in '91, these schools decided they'd put each other on their schedules sometime soon.

Now that it's three years later, their players — and their rankings — have changed, so we would've rather seen the Hurricanes and Huskies meet back then, but better late than never.

We don't have much to go on — they didn't have a single common opponent in '93 — but we're going with Miami by 16 points.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Sept. 25-26

Atlanta, 24—**Washington, 22

In their '93 matchup, the Falcons were statistically superior to the Redskins but committed six turnovers and lost 30-17. This year Atlanta can end its streak of losses to Washington at five.

**Detroit, 27—New England 19

Last year these two teams played a tight, tense game, and the Lions barely escaped with a 19-16 win — and their pride — when Jason Hanson kicked a 38-yard field goal with 3:56 left in overtime.

**Green Bay, 21—Tampa Bay, 17

If the Packers want an NFC Central title, they can't afford to lose intradivisional games like this one. In '93 G.B. beat the Bucs twice, once easily and once with difficulty, 37-14 and 13-10.

**Houston, 20—Cincinnati, 14

The Oilers also need to dispose of the weaker team in their division, though they've proved they can lose to any team in any given week. Houston has, however, won six in a row over the Bengals.

**Indianapolis, 25—Cleveland, 18

Anything can happen here, especially with Marshall Faulk running loose for Indianapolis. In last year's battle the Colts sacked Cleveland QB's five times, scored two late TD's and won 23-10.

**Kansas City, 32—L.A. Rams, 16

It's been three years since the Chiefs and Rams last played (and K.C. won 27-20). If it weren't such an in-your-face gesture, this might be a good time for the Chiefs to let Joe Montana rest.

Miami, 28—**Minnesota, 21

They haven't met since '88, but the Dolphins have had the Vikings' number over the years, winning five of six, including a Super Bowl. This is Dan Marino's second test against a real defense.

**N.Y. Jets, 28—Chicago, 17

The Bears beat the Jets 19-13 in OT in their most recent game, in '91. This is an early must game for both teams, but N.Y. is the best prepared, having warmed up with Buffalo, Denver and Miami.

Pittsburgh, 24—**Seattle, 23

In between flashes of competence, the Steelers exhibit a strange Oiler-like tendency to lose to teams they shouldn't lose to. In '93 the Seahawks beat them 16-6 — so why don't forecasters learn?

San Diego, 30—**L.A. Raiders, 20

If both teams are hitting on all cylinders, hold onto your hats. Last year the Chargers, winners of three of the last four in this series, beat the Raiders in L.A., 30-23, then lost 12-7 in S.D.

**San Francisco, 32—New Orleans, 19

Can the Saints keep the 49ers honest in the NFC West? The first time they met in '93, New Orleans, 4-0 at the time, won a 16-13 thriller. Two months later S.F. pounded the fading Saints 42-7.

**Buffalo, 29—Denver, 25

(Monday) Another potential wild one, between teams — like their QB's — that can be especially awesome on a Monday night when nothing much is at stake. The Bills won 27-17 in '92, the last time they met.

** — denotes home team

Tigers, Hawks and Rocks all play at home Friday

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The county teams are all in action this week. Even better all three are playing home games. The Tigers of Bay High are entertaining the Hornets of East Central, the Hawks are hosting Northshore of Louisiana, and the Rock-a-chaws are celebrating Homecoming against the Pirates of Pass Christian.

The Tigers are high after a 27-6 win over the Wildcats of Greene County last week. They have their hands full with the Hornets. This game is a divisional game for both teams. Kickoff is slated for 7:30pm at Joe D. McCullough Stadium in Bay St. Louis. The Tigers are 2-1 entering the game.

The Hawks won their first game of the season under new head coach Rocky Gaudin last week. They defeated the Rock-a-chaws 20-13 in a suspenseful ending when the Rocks fumbled in the endzone on the last play of the game. The Hawks are 1-3 on the season and will play host to Northshore of Louisiana. Kickoff is set for 7:30pm in Kiln.

The Rocks won the first game of the season against St. John of Gulfport. Since then the Rocks have been reeling on three straight losses. Last week they were beaten in a district contest against the Hawks of Hancock. This week the Rocks look to get back on track against the Pirates of Pass Christian. SSC will be celebrating its Homecoming this week and it should be a fun-filled night for all. The Rocks are 1-3 on the season. Game time is set for 7:30pm in the friendly confines of Rock Stadium in Bay St. Louis. The court and queen will be introduced at the game.

Good luck to your teams on Friday and see you at the game!

Heitzmann and Lagarde compete in state tourney

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The mixed doubles team of Liz Lagarde and Ann Heitzmann went undefeated in the 4.5 rating this season. Their record was 4-0.

The individual match record was 12-0.

The team plays out of the Gulf Coast Tennis Club in Gulfport. The team defeated the Singing River Yacht Club team and a second GCTC team.

Lagarde and Heitzmann, both of Bay St. Louis, will now travel to the state championships in Greenville, MS, held on September 23-25.

Other members of the GCTC team are Jan Salloun, Jenny Farragut, Steve Johnson, Boris Zaick, Tom Fisher, and James Griffin.

All member of the team are members of the Mississippi Tennis Association and participate in local tournaments and leagues.

Rocks take on Pirates

BY TRACI BONNEY

St. Stanislaus faces a tough opponent this week as the Rocks host the Pass Christian Pirates for homecoming. Can the ever-improving Rock-a-chaws sink the Pirates' ship?

The 4-A Rocks won their first game this season, but have lost the last three. However, according to SSC head coach Brannon LeBlanc, "We're playing pretty good football and getting better every game. We're 1-3 on the season, but against Oak Grove and Hancock we were in the game until the final quarter."

The 2-A Pirates are 3-1 for the season, having defeated two 3-A teams and a 4-A squad before falling to the 4-A Bearcats of Long Beach last week.

Pirate head coach Joseph Brown commented, "We're still sore and banged up. We have to get some people well."

"Willie James is out; Henry Henderson won't be playing this week; and three or four other players are hurt. There are a lot of little nagging injuries we have to get healed."

"Our schedule is taking its toll. We've been playing bigger schools, and it's taking it out of our players. It's tough knowing we'll be playing our third 4-A school in a row this week, but we just have to get in there and do it."

The Rocks aren't suffering the same problems with injuries, LeBlanc said. "We've been lucky so far. We have a strong weight program that I credit with a lot of our team's good health. We work out four times a week, and that's helped our strength."

"Let's face it; they're 3-1. The team has defeated two 3-A teams and a 4-A team, and last week they lost to the best team on the Coast. They're for real."

Brown said of the Rocks,

Timely preparation key to tasty doves

By Anna Minor

MSU Ag Communications

With dove season beginning in most of Mississippi, many cooks across the state are wondering how to begin to prepare the birds brought back from hunting trips.

Hunters can help their cooks to prepare tasty doves by handling the birds properly in the field.

Dean Stewart, extension wildlife specialist at Mississippi State University, said doves should be kept as cool as possible after they are harvested in the field.

"Most dove hunters begin hunting in early September when we still have a lot of hot weather," Stewart said.

"Hunters should keep the birds cool in the field by laying them singly in the shade, dressing them or placing them on ice in a cooler."

Doves usually will not spoil in the field, but they should be dressed within a few hours of harvesting. The birds should be cleaned and washed. If they are not going to be eaten immediately, the birds should be frozen.

"It's really easy to dress doves," Stewart said.

"First, remove the entrails by either splitting at the back or just under the breast. Next, pluck the feathers or remove the skin with the feathers. Hot water can help to remove feathers."

Doves are a good nutritional meat choice because they do not have as much fat or cholesterol as many other meats.

"Most wild game is lower in fat content and cholesterol than the processed meats, which makes it a lot healthier for you," Stewart said.

Doves are cooked in many ways. The most popular methods are frying, roasting, baking, barbecuing and braising.

"When frying doves, I always marinate them in whole milk and roll them in seasoned flour," said Bill Joe Cross, a wild game cook from Brandon.

"Then I make sure the oil is good and hot with the temperature no higher than 325 degrees before I begin to fry them."

Another popular method for preparing doves is to marinate the breasts after removing them from the birds, wrap them in a bacon strip and grill them. Stewart recommended using butter and seasonings, such as lemon pepper, on the meat.

"Since doves don't have a lot of fat, the bacon and butter help to keep them moist," Stewart said.

"Basting the meat helps to keep the meat from becoming too dry."

Cross suggested putting deseeded and deveined jalapeno peppers in the middle of the breasts before grilling them for added flavor.

Many people complain about wild game having a gamey taste, but proper preparation usually eliminates the taste.

"If you cook the doves with different seasonings and spices, you usually won't have any wild taste at all," Stewart said.

"We've got to try to stop the whole SSC line. We'd like to win the game, to get back on track."

LeBlanc expressed similar sentiments: "We'll be full speed going into Friday's game."

Both coaches said they considered the opposing teams to be tough. LeBlanc stated, "The Pirates will be well prepared. They have a good coaching staff. I've worked with Coach Brown in summer football camps, and he does an excellent job."

"They have an extremely talented quarterback in Kevin Clark, and he has a connection with Leonard Ward."

Museum to host monthly workshops

Starting Sept. 24, children and their parents will have the opportunity to roll up their sleeves and get serious about art, in a fun kind of way, of course.

Thanks to a grant from International Paper, Moss Point Mill, the Walter Anderson Museum of Art will host free monthly workshops on Saturday mornings featuring area artists who will share their ideas and talents.

On Saturday, Sept. 24 from 10 a.m. to noon in the Ocean Springs Community Center, Bay St. Louis artist Tony Eccles will conduct a "Found Objects Sculpture" workshop. The free workshop will help families to see the artistic elements in commonplace things.

They'll create pieces of art out of such things as lipstick tubes, popsicle sticks, plastic jugs, buttons and bottle caps.

The lessons learned in seeing things without prejudice and distinguishing perception from conception is helpful not only in art, but in learning foreign languages and mathematics as well as in relating better to people.

In addition to being a talented sculptor and painter, Eccles is an arts demonstrator for the Mississippi Arts Commission, co-owner of the Mississippi Gallery in Bay St. Louis and a clinical psychologist.

Mental health center moves

Gulf Coast Mental Health Center's central office for administration and mental health outpatient services has moved from 4514 Old Pass Road to 1600 Broad Avenue in Gulfport.

The new location is just south of the Broad Avenue entrance to the Naval Construction Battalion Center.

Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, which serves Harrison, Hancock, Pearl River and Stone counties, maintains a mental health outpatient office at 331 Shieldsboro Square in Bay St. Louis.

Other programs in Hancock County include Hancock Industries in the Port Bienville Industrial Park and Friendship House, a partial hospitalization program, in Waveland.

Hancock Bank recognizes teacher excellence with annual awards

Leo Seal Jr.

Hancock Bank announces the formation of a permanent endowment fund designed to highlight teacher excellence in the classroom.

The new fund, "Leo W. Seal Teacher Recognition Award," is under the umbrella of the Gulf Coast Community Foundation's "Pat Santucci Friends of Public Education Funds."

The annual program is open to public school teachers in Hancock, Pearl River, Harrison and Jackson counties and will award five winners with $1,000. The awards must be used by the teachers to fund classroom projects submitted and judged on in their applications. Nominations may be made by peers, students, parents and others interested in spotlighting the work of a particular teacher.

Teachers are permitted and encouraged to nominate themselves. Nominations must be postmarked no later than midnight, Oct. 31.

Forms are available at all public school offices, all branches of Hancock Bank, or by calling the Gulf Coast Community Foundation office at (601) 868-1563.

Nominees are asked to complete applications describing their project and its budget for which the award will be used. An advisory board made up of business and educational leaders from the four counties will review all applications, and awards will be announced in early April. An award presentation is planned for an early May luncheon.

Hancock Bank formed this permanent endowment fund earlier this year with the Gulf Coast Community Foundation, the earnings of which will provide these awards in perpetuity.

The awards' purpose is explained by bank president George Schloegel.

"Both Leo W. Seal Sr. and his son, Leo W. Seal Jr. have been instrumental in the growth of the Mississippi Gulf Coast by their leadership in the business field and dedication to the educational development of this area."

"Hancock Bank is proud to honor these men by naming this award program after them. Its purpose is to encourage teacher excellence by recognizing those who best apply their teaching and leadership skills."

"And by investing the awards in their classroom projects, teachers will enhance the educational resources for our leaders of tomorrow."

Leo Seal Sr.

Parenting Gifted Children Conference set for Nov. 5

The 11th annual Parenting Gifted Children Conference is planned for Saturday, Nov. 5 at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Sponsored by the USM Center for Gifted Studies, the program is scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Bennett Auditorium on the Hattiesburg campus.

More than 20 topics will be presented in such areas as advanced placement, leadership development and creative problem-solving.

Parents, educators, psychologists and other interested adults are invited to attend the one-day conference to promote a better understanding of the intellectual, academic and social-emotional needs of gifted and talented children and teens.

Dr. Mary Ruth Coleman, assistant director of the Gifted Education Policy Study Program at the University of North Carolina, will be the conference's keynote speaker. She is a member of the board of directors of the National Association for Gifted Children and serves on several editorial boards.

Pre-registration is recommended but not required. The pre-registration deadline is Oct. 15, and the conference fee is $15. For information call 266-5236.

New director

NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center announces the selection of Leslie B. "Boyc" Mix as director of test and engineering at SSC. Mix will oversee all propulsion test programs, assigned to SSC.

Bank declares dividends

The board of directors of Merchants Bancshares at their monthly meeting, held in September 1994, declared a $50 per share cash dividend to all stockholders of record as of Sept. 16, 1994 payable Oct. 3, 1994.

The earnings for the first six months of 1994 were $7.85 per share before taxes and $5.23 per share after taxes.

T&G meeting is today

The formation of the Southeast Mississippi Tourism Association — a joint regional effort by a broad range of agencies, organizations, government bodies and businesses serving the 18-county area of southeast Mississippi — will be the topic discussed at the next general membership meeting of the Hancock County Tourism & Gaming Association (T&G), 6 p.m. today at the Waveland Resort Inn.

Paul Ferrell, Pat Harrison Waterway District, and Rick Taylor, Hattiesburg Convention & Visitors Bureau, who currently are serving as the new association's interim president and vice-president, respectively, will be the featured speakers.

Their presentation will address the purpose, goals and mission of the new association, and they will present the details of the group's formal organization.

tional meeting held Oct. 4 in Hattiesburg.

The group will be established as a non-profit organization and will have as its mission the bringing together of tourism, recreational, economic and community development leaders, professionals, and other individuals with an interest in the region's tourism product.

The organization will incorporate a dues structure designed to be attractive and equitable to a broad range of businesses, individuals, agencies and other groups which desire to share their expertise and work collectively to offer potential visitors a comprehensive tourism package for southeast Mississippi.

Anyone who may have an interest in learning more about this new association is encouraged to attend this meeting. A social mixer, with cash bar, will follow the business session.

Dubuisson graduates from BAI

Jeanie M. Dubuisson, assistant operations officer, Hancock Bank, graduated from The BAI School for Bank Administration with a major in retail banking management.

Dubuisson joined Hancock Bank in 1976 as a customer service representative and secretary to the cashier. In 1984 she worked in student loans and in 1986 was named manager.

In 1987 she was promoted to administrative assistant, and in 1988 she was appointed sales manager of the Marketing Department.

In 1990, Dubuisson was named assistant operations officer. This year Dubuisson is working with the United Way of South Mississippi, serving as chairman of corporate remote on their 1994 campaign.

Basic sign language course planned at USM

A course designed to teach the basics of sign language will be offered at the University of Southern Mississippi Oct. 11-Dec. 1.

The course, which meets Tuesday and Thursday nights from 6:30 to 8:30, will be in the Speech and Hearing Building room 203 on the USM Hattiesburg campus.

Linda Cubley, director of USM's School for Children with Impaired Hearing, will teach the course.

The noncredit registration fee is $225. The required text, The Joy of Signing by Lottie L. Riekhof, costs approximately $20 and will be available for purchase on the first day of the class. The book is also available at some area bookstores.

A $75 deposit is required. The balance of the registration fee is due on or before Oct. 11.

Registration may be made by telephone for those wishing to charge the fee to a Visa or Mastercard. To register using a credit card, call 266-5130 or 266-4187 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

To register in person, come to the office in McLemore Hall, room 307 during the same hours.

For other information, contact the USM Continuing Education at 266-4186.

Today's women need financial know-how

By Michelle McAnally
MSU Ag Communications
Today more women than ever are the sole breadwinners and financial managers for their families. With increased responsibility comes the need for financial knowledge and independence.

"Many women have grown up uninformed about money management, secure in the belief that someone will take care of them," said Dr. Beverly Howell, extension family economics and management specialist at Mississippi State University.

"While that belief may have been true at some time for some women, it is not true today."

Whether a woman is married or single, in her 20s or 50s, she needs to know how to manage money and how to understand her personal legal matters in an increasingly complex world.

Howell said the first step in developing an understanding of financial and legal business affairs is to conduct a legal and financial review of the state of the family.

Begin by organizing valuable papers and documents. Determine what they are and what their purposes are.

The next step is to prepare a net worth statement, which is a picture of a family's financial situation. A net worth statement lists assets (what is owned) against liabilities (what is owed).

The final step of a financial review is to make an inventory of all property. Estimate the fair market value of each asset and list any mortgage or debt against it.

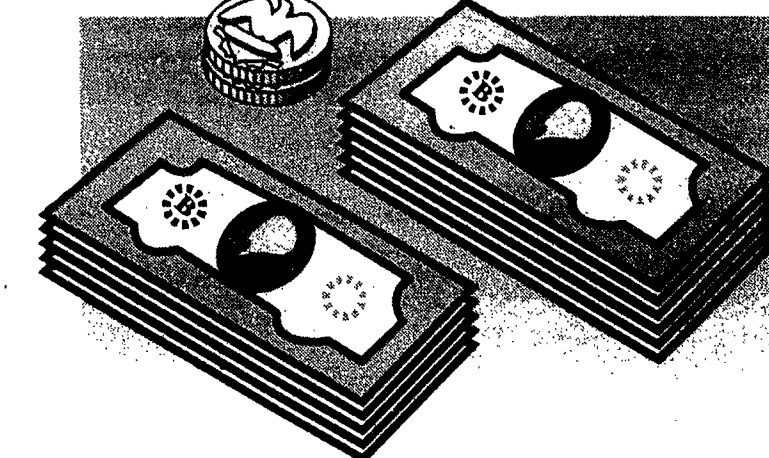

"On your first attempt to get credit, you may face a common frustration," Howell said.

"Sometimes it seems you need to have credit to get credit."

It is important for women to establish and maintain a good credit history in their own names. There are several ways to begin to build a credit history, and the first step is to open a checking and/or savings account.

A bank account does not begin your credit file, but it may be checked as evidence that you have money and know how to manage it.

"If you don't qualify for credit on the basis of your own credit standing, suggest to the creditor that someone might co-sign your application," Howell said. "If you are turned down, try to find out why and clear up any misunderstandings."

Another way to start a credit history is to apply for a department store card. These are generally easier to get than other credit cards, and paying your bills on time is a plus on your credit report.

Women who are divorced or widowed might not have individual credit histories because all past credit accounts were listed in their husbands' names. However, they can benefit from this record.

By law, creditors must consider the credit history of any account a woman held jointly with her husband.

If a woman has never had any financial planning experience, she can organize her financial and legal matters with the help of a professional.

The Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service and local county extension agents offer free help and planning guides.

"Some professional financial planners offer a free initial consultation," said Howell.

"You just have to be selective in choosing a planner and be knowledgeable about what kind of help you're looking for."

UM announces degree completion classes

Classes are now forming for the University of Mobile's Adult Degree Completion Program. Adults age 25 and older are invited to attend an information session Monday, Sept. 29, to learn about the program, as well as financial aid and application procedures.

The session will begin at 6 p.m. on the University of Mobile campus in Room 111 of Thomas T. Martin Hall.

The Adult Degree Completion Program allows students to complete a bachelor of science degree in organizational management in about 16 months, while attending class only one night a week.

Students who have already earned about 60 semester hours of college credit are good candidates for the program.

For more information, call the University of Mobile at (205) 675-5990, ext. 358, or 1-800-WIN-RAMS.

Pearl River seeks nominations for Alumni of the Year

Nominations for Pearl River Community College's Alumni of the Year and Sports Hall of Fame will be accepted until 3 p.m. Friday, Sept. 30.

According to Donna Wilson, director of alumni affairs, a male and female will be selected to receive the Alumni of the Year awards, and three former athletes will be named to the Sports Hall of Fame.

Wilson said those selected must have been enrolled at PRC for at least a year, however, actual graduation is not required.

Alumni of the Year recipients should have distinguished themselves through involvement with or promotion of Pearl River College and should have made a significant contribution to their community. The recipients must be active PRC Alumni Association members.

Jeanette Crain of Columbia and Ott Brockman of Hattiesburg were the 1993 recipients.

Hall of Fame nominations should be based on athletic prowess and accomplishments with consideration given to attributes and attainment of character, leadership and citizenship.

Please mail nominations with resumes to Donna Wilson, Office of Alumni Affairs, Pearl River Community College, Box 5389, Poplarville, MS 39470. For more information, call 795-1183.

SSC Homecoming Court

St. Stanislaus 1994 Homecoming Court

St. Stanislaus will hold its 1994 Homecoming Friday, Sept. 23. All alumni of St. Stanislaus are invited to take part in the activities to be held on the school campus, which begin with a pep rally in the school gym Set. 23 at 1:30 p.m.

At 5 that evening, alumni and friends of St. Stanislaus are invited to a homecoming party in the Student Union. The homecoming game between St. Stanislaus and Pass Christian will begin at 7:30 p.m. The homecoming court will be formally presented, and the queen will be announced at half-time ceremonies and again at the homecoming dance on Saturday.

Homecoming court members are Marci Marie Bankston, Natica Lynne Chapman, Jill Lirette Cox, Erica Measchelle Lizana and Kristin Marie Siciliano.

Marci Bankston, who is a junior attending Our Lady Academy, is a member of student council, campus ministry, Princess Shoppe Teen Board and SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving). She is also a junior class representative. Marci is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Garcia of Bay St. Louis.

Natica "Nikki" Chapman, who is a senior attending Our Lady Academy, is a member of SADD, campus ministry, and JETS (Junior Engineering Technological Society). She is a former member of the math/science team and Nereids.

She is co-captain of the SSC varsity cheerleaders, SADD publicist, and on the junior advisory board for the Princess Shoppe Teen Board. She has been Pepsi Student of the Month and earned achievement awards in advanced biology and religion. Nikki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Chapman of Waveland.

Jill Cox, who is a sophomore attending St. John High School, is a member of the St. Thomas Catholic Youth Organization and plays both basketball and softball. Jill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Cox of Long Beach.

Erica Lizana, who is a senior at Our Lady Academy, is a member of campus ministry, St. Stephen Catholic Youth Organization, SADD, JETS, math/science team, and MTA (Minorities Take Action). She has served as secretary of the National Honor Society and president of JETS and is a member of the French Honor Society. Erica is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Lizana of Pass Christian.

Kristin Siciliano, who is a senior attending Mt. Carmel Academy in New Orleans, is a former member of the Spanish Club, Latin Club and student council. She ran cross country as a freshman and participated in intramurals for three years. She has received the Junior Achievement Award and was on the 1992 St. Stanislaus Homecoming Court. Kristin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Siciliano of Metairie.

The homecoming court will be introduced and recognized at the homecoming dance on Saturday, Sept. 24. The dance, open to students from St. Stanislaus, will be from 8 p.m. to 12 a.m. in the Student Union.

North Bay Elementary has arts and crafts fair

North Bay Elementary is having its second annual Children's Arts and Crafts Fair Nov. 5.

There are many arts and crafts booths that are free for the children, handled by the faculty, and parents of North Bay.

"We would like to invite you to join us. Come set up a booth and sell your merchandise. This year there will be more and our hope is to have as many craft merchants as possible," a spokesman said.

Those interested may contact Linda Monks at North Bay, 467-4757, and leave name and number.

Local men pledge fraternities

Two Hancock County men pledged fraternities during Formal Rush at the University of Southern Mississippi in August.

Eleven fraternities at USM participated in Formal Rush Aug. 13-18. More than 80 men had joined fraternities by the Pledging Kappa Sigma was Charles Oliver Jr. of Bay St. Louis, 18, son of Charles and Rhonda Oliver, and pledging Sigma Chi was Mickey Quinlan of Waveland, 20, son of Mick and Adrienne Quinlan.

Heitzman accepted to school of medicine

Scott Joseph Heitzman of Bay St. Louis has been accepted to dental school at the University of Mississippi's School of Dentistry in Jackson.

A graduate of The University of Mississippi, he received a bachelor of arts degree in biology.

Heitzman also attended Louisiana State University from August '89 to December of '90.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Joseph Heitzman.

Bezou on dean's list

Nicole Renee Bezou of Bay St. Louis is included on the dean's list for the summer semester at the University of Southern Mississippi. Dean's list scholars at USM must maintain a 3.25 grade point average.
